State Tax Report Proves

Spending Up, Incomes Down

AN AP Analysis
By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — What Kentucky taxpayers have perceived in the past decade turns out to be quite correct: government spending has grown considerably faster than their personal income.

Legislative Research Commission staff.

Buried in a mass of data submitted to the legislative Joint Interim Committee on Appropriations and Revenue, the survey was mentioned only briefly at last week's meeting.

These are some of the highlights: —Total personal income in Kentucky increased an average of 10.4 percent a year between 1968 and 1977.

The state's annual General Fund revenues on the average grew 35.8 percent faster than personal income. That fund is the source of most state government spending.

—State Road Fund revenues during the 10-year period grew 2.4 percent faster than personal income.

Since that fund has been anemic for years, occasionally requiring injections of new money from the General Fund, those statistics do not speak well either for personal income or road money.

The Road Fund has been hobbled by a static 9-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax, which gave the state no benefit from sharply rising gas prices. Had the tax been a percentage of price, instead of 9 cents a gallon regardless of price, the Road Fund would have grown at a greater rate.

The Kentucky taxpayer may not relate to the astronomical figures of the growing state budget — about $7.5 billion for the next two fiscal years — but apparently recognizes the glaring discrepancy between the rises in government income and his personal income.

"It's probably a factor in the taxpayer's being ticked off," commented one state fiscal source, who declined to be identified. "It's a question of equity."

The state statistics appear to transcend politics.

For example, the biggest surge in state spending for any year in the past decade occurred in 1968 when Republican Louie Nunn took over as governor. Government growth increased 20.5 percent.

However, in 1970, after Nunn had settled in, the growth percentage was only 8 percent, the lowest of the 10 years.

Similarly, during the tenure of Julian Carroll, the current Democratic governor, General Fund growth increased 17.2 percent in 1977.

In the same year, personal income rose 13.8 percent, the highest in the past decade.

County Tax Rate To Be Higher Next Year; Increase Is Slight

By LOWELL ATCHLEY
Staff Reporter

County taxes will be up this year, but not much.

Calloway County Fiscal Court magistrates Tuesday raised local county taxes two tenths of a cent and officially ratified adoption of the general budget okayed in a June 28 session.

Magistrates in June adopted an estimated $1,217,262 budget based on a .14-cent per $100 assessed tax rate. They officially adopted that rate Tuesday.

The .14-cent for real estate, tangibles and franchise compares to 13.8-cents per $100 assessed last year.

Magistrates also okayed a county special purpose health tax rate hike of five tenths of a cent from a 2.5-cent rate last year to 3-cents this year.

Calloway County Judge-Executive Robert O. Miller justified the rate hike because the local health department has built a new extension to its facilities and has expanded its services.

Old 641 Status

Calloway County Fiscal Court magistrates have declined for the present to accept "old" U. S. 641 for county road aid maintenance once the four-lane roadway is completed.

Paving bids on the four lane 641 north of Murray are expected to be let in November, with paving probably to start early next year, according to Bob Hodges, district engineer with Kentucky Department of Transportation.

Hodges attended the fiscal court session Tuesday and asked magistrates about accepting the old road under the county aid program once the new road is complete.

"Once we get traffic on 641 (the new roadway) traffic on the old one will decrease considerably," Hodges said.

He indicated the same communities the old road serves will be served also by the new road.

Magistrates declined to accept the road Tuesday, although Miller indicated the county will probably get the road for county maintenance anyway.

Magistrates Gil Hopson, Billy Erwin and Dan Bazzell (magistrate Tommy Bogard was absent) Tuesday agreed to invest in a computer based operation which does federal grant searches for local governments.

The three magistrates agreed to invest $9,500 into the operation called International Systems Inc. with yet another $9,500 to be paid when the company gains federal grant to the county totaling at least $9,500.

Miller called the operation worthwhile because of the sheer bulk of federal programs available to local governments.

He likened the company to a matching system — it fits data related to this county with appropriate grants using a computer.

Miller said the county needs more federal surplus equipment, and could use federal money to build a series of "mini-parks" in the county.

State School Bonding Authority Has To Wait

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A bonding authority recently created by the Kentucky Legislature to help local school districts finance construction must wait a year before it can begin issuing bonds, but the chairman of the panel says the lead time is needed.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction James Graham warned the 11-member group at its initial meeting Tuesday that its future could depend on the formula it devises over the next year for distributing the state money.

"I hope we develop a formula that is fair and equitable to everybody," said the state's top education official. "And that is a heck of a task. It is not as easy as it sounds."

"It is going to take the best thinking of everyone around this table," Graham said. "We will either get funded for the next 20 years or die in the 1980 legislature. It depends on what happens this time."

Graham serves as chairman of the authority, which was created by the 1978 General Assembly. The group was given bonding authority to raise and distribute money on a matching basis to local districts.

Graham said Tuesday the formula must take into account each district's needs and ability to pay.

"Some of the local districts are in dire straits and the ones who need it most may be least able to meet the matching funds," the superintendent added.

"That is why we have to look at the formula very closely," added Henry Pogue Jr. of Fort Thomas, chairman of the state Board of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Graham also warned that the authority must stick by whatever formula it comes up with, although "you are going to have some people who will be unhappy."

"When you make exceptions to a formula, you have had it," Graham added.

Pogue expressed concern over the anticipated competition for money between elementary and secondary education and vocational education.

"We will have to develop a dual formula to deal with vocational education and local districts," Pogue said.

Arnold Guess, assistant deputy superintendent for finance and administration, said the authority's $7 million bonding capacity, combined with the anticipated local matching funds, should enable the authority to issue more than $100 million in bonds. The authority cannot issue bonds until next July, Graham said it was good that the group would have a year's lead time to organize.

He said his staff would work on the basis of a formula for the group to review at its next meeting, Oct. 24.

The panel agreed to adopt its by-laws, including regular meeting dates, at that meeting and complete election of officers. T.K. Stone of Elizabethtown was elected vice chairman of the authority at Tuesday's meeting.

Graham said he also hoped a staff could be hired, including an executive director, by the end of the year.

Thursday Council Meet Set

Two rezoning recommendations from the Murray Planning Commission will be considered at the regular meeting of the Murray Common Council at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in City Hall.

One of the recommendations, which was approved by the planners in a split vote during a special meeting Thursday morning, is that a piece of property adjacent to Dwin Taylor Chevrolet be rezoned from R-2 (residential) to B-2 (business). The commission approved the recommendation despite strong objections from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brandon, who also own property adjacent to the tract in question.

The other recommendation is that two tracts of land, the southeast and southwest corners of Whitnell and Story Avenue be rezoned. The commission recommended that the southwest corner be rezoned from R-2 to a "professional office" designation and the southeast corner from R-2 to B-1 (business).

Also on the agenda for the meeting, which is open to the general public, is: — a sewer system evaluation report from Chester Engineers;

— a report from the Insurance Services Office, State of Kentucky (this agency sets fire insurance classifications for Kentucky cities);

— consideration of an agreement between the city and Texas Gas Transmission Company that would provide for Texas Gas transporting gas the city may store in a field owned by Har-Ken Oil Company.

City School Board To Meet

The Murray City Board of Education will hold its regular meeting on Thursday, July 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the board office on Poplar.

Items on the agenda for that session are: food service bids, consideration of bids on a school car, discussion of the Head Start Program for 1978-79, and personnel recommendations.

Local Man Wins 4-H Award

Ernest Madrey has been selected as outstanding leader by the Purchase Area 4-H Council. His name will be submitted by the area for consideration as outstanding leader for the State of Kentucky. Madrey, an active 4-H leader for 26 years, is presently serving on the Calloway County 4-H Council as he has done for many years. He has also served two terms on the Purchase Area 4-H Council, and has served on county and area committees throughout the years.

Madrey is a well respected cattle breeder, carpenter and farmer in Calloway County. He is a member of the American Shorthorn Breeders Association and has been instrumental in advising 4-H members in the selection of calves for their beef projects. He has instructed them in proper feed management and has assisted the boys and girls in grooming and showing their cattle at county, area, and state fairs.

Mr. Madrey has also advised 4-H members in farming practices. As a devout farmer he was given the opportunity to accompany a group of 4-Hers to the National Fertilizer Development Center Muscle Shoals, Alabama, to the worlds most complete fertilizer research and development center.

Madrey has worked with project groups over the years. He taught tractor safety for several years in a county project sponsored by the tractor dealers in Murray. Tractor safety and proper maintenance were stressed in the project.

His great appreciation for natural resources has been instrumental in teaching boys and girls proper conservation practices. He has taken 4-Hers on tours in recreational and wildlife areas to help them learn to appreciate more the outdoors and to develop a love for nature. Because of his interest in natural resources he was awarded in 1961 and 1962 the Tom Wallace Farm Forestry Award sponsored by the Courier Journal. He also accompanied the 4-Hers to the 4-H Regional Resource Development Conference, Fontana Village, N. C., sponsored annually by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Madrey has also taught the woodwork project for several years. His knowledge and interest in carpentry has been a great asset to him in this project.

Assisting with the county fair has been a highlight each year. He has helped with horticulture exhibits and the concession stand. His carpentry was very helpful to the council each year as repairs and improvements were made on the concession building. He, his wife, and daughter served as manager of the stand for a year.

Madrey's wife, Murrell, has also been a 4-H leader for 26 years. Not only working with the projects of interest to him, he has been an asset to her in her work with 4-Hers. They have a daughter, Kathleen, who was very active in 4-H work.

Madrey is an active member of the Union Grove Church of Christ. He attends services regularly and assists to help young people recognize and understand the importance of working toward goals of good citizenship and leadership has been a purpose in life for Madrey and helping with the 4-H program has helped him realize this purpose.

Ernest Madrey, left was recently honored at the Kentucky 4-H Leaders Council conference for being selected as outstanding leader by the Purchase Area 4-H Council. Making the presentation to Madrey was Dale Rigdon, president of the Kentucky 4-H Leaders Council.

Final 'Thread' Shows Slated

Beginning July 27, the Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre will present the final three performances of Jesse Stuart's "The Thread That Runs So True." The play will begin at 8 p.m. in the city-county park and will run July 27, 28, 29. Admission is $2.50 and $1.50.

"Unless it is actually raining at curtain time the show will be performed at 8 p.m.," said Tom Pasco, house manager. "So even if it rains earlier in the day expect the show to begin on schedule."

The play depicts Stuart's struggles with the school board and with rebellious students.

"We have an excellent staff to support our actors," said Gerry Reed, production manager. These include: Richard Valentine, director; Ann Chapman, stage manager; Margaret Porter, costume; Patsy Massey, wardrobe; Tom Pasco, house manager; Betty Pitts, makeup; Blanch Titworth, box office; John Pasco Jr., publicity; Nelda Smith, concessions; Mike Brun, program design; Diane Johnson, program chairman; Susan Barrett, parking; Barbara Kemper and Mark Etherton, properties; and David Boyd, lights.

"We felt that this play will be enjoyed by everyone. It is fine family entertainment," continued Reed.

The final play of the 1978 summer season will be "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown." It will be presented August 17, 18, 19 and 24, 25, 26.

Of Interest To Senior Citizens

Thelma Nanney Directs Bus Trip To Arkansas

Forty-four senior citizens from this area including several from Murray, Dexter, and Hardin took a bus trip to Eureka Springs, Ark., on June 28, 29, and 30.

While there they saw the Passion Play, attended a country and western music show, and toured Eureka Springs by grayline tour.

The group called themselves the Kentucky Lake Travelers and traveled by Brooks Bus Line, accompanied by Attorney and Mrs. Bill Phillips of Murray.

Thelma Nanney, South Marshall Senior Citizens director, directed and supervised the trip. Mrs. Nanney received a special letter of appreciation from Elsie and Homer Ford of Paducah for her fine work in organizing and conducting the tour.

Making the tour, other than those mentioned, were Willie Mae Haggard, Lucy Wallace, Margaret Hastings, Pauline Hayden, Lillie Oakley, Alberta Davis, Anna Barber, Velma Brasher, all of Paducah; Evelyn Ross, Vera Warren, Audaine Finell, Clatus Copeland, Bob Mason, Raymond Byars, Onie Byars, John Barnett, Beatrice Barnett, Pansy Miller, Gladys Mitchell, Willie Mae Dunigan, Evaline York, Evelyn Henderson, Hardin; Treva Oakley, Fern Finch, Fairdealing; William Marose, Ola Marose, Celia Thompson, and Maxine Starks, Murray; Clifford Powell, Sweet Roberts, Leota Williams, Ruth Walters, Mae Gibson, Hattie Feezor, Mildred Jacob, Pauline Chester, Rose Henderson, Lena Obiol, Benton; Lola Jones and Gladys Clark, Dexter.

ATKINS BOY

Thornton Home Scene Of Event

The second annual Edinborough Drive Summer get together was held on Thursday evening, July 20, at the home of Randy and Pam Thornton, 2218 Edinborough Drive, Murray.

Thirteen families were present. This was a chance for old residents to see others again and an opportunity for new families to meet others.

Homemade ice cream was served by the Paddockos, Dills, and Thorntons. The other families brought homemade cookies and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby L. Atkins, 1613 Kirkwood Drive, Murray, are the parents of a baby boy, Gregory Lee, weighing eight pounds eight ounces, measuring twenty inches, born on Friday, June 30, at 3:14 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

They have another son, Anthony Douglas, age six. The father is employed by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Grandparents are Mrs. Brent Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Culp, all of Murray. A great grandmother is Mrs. Lela Culp of Murray.

Cook-Stephenson Vows Solemnized At Church

Miss Regina Ann Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cook of Hazel, and Charles Michael Stephenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephenson of Murray were married in a June wedding at the Memorial Baptist Church, Murray.

The Rev. Ron Hampton performed the double ring ceremony and the Rev. James Garland of the Hazel Baptist Church led the closing prayer.

As guests arrived, Mrs. Calvin Key presented a program of piano music and accompanied Mrs. Johnny White as she sang "Evergreen," "One Hand, One Heart," "The One and Only," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The wedding party stood before an arch intertwined with talisman roses, apricot, white pom poms, and greenery which was flanked on either side by spiral candelabra. On each side of the altar were Grecian urns filled with summer bouquets. Candles surrounded by apricot and white pom poms and greenery illuminated the sanctuary. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted by her father, was radiant in her lovely gown of peau de soie, overlaid in white organza, and chantilly lace. The pinafore styled bodice was enhanced with tiny seed pearls, lace, and organza ruffling. Long fitted sleeves accented with lace were fastened at the wrists with covered buttons. Softly gathered at the waist, the skirt daintily touched the floor with a deep flounce that swept to a full train.

Completing the ensemble was a matching chantilly headpiece with a shoulder length and a fingertip veil, both of illusion encircled with lace. The bride wore diamond earrings, a gift from her mother.

She carried a white satin covered Bible, a gift from the groom's sister, covered with silk talisman roses and white silk daisies with white streamers. Before the ceremony the bride presented her mother and the groom's mother with tiny silk talisman roses.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Kathy Harding. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Paula Duncan, sister of the bride, Miss Theresa Dover, and Miss Teri Rice.

The attendants wore identical gowns of sheer organza. A dainty floral print overlaid a beautiful shade of apricot taffeta. The halter styled dresses were gathered at the empire waist, and swept the floor with a flounce ruffle. The matching cape of floral print and apricot hats trimmed in the same print completed the ensemble.

Each attendant wore a gold necklace and charm, gifts from the bride, and carried a small nosegay of talisman roses and white daisies.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with matching sash and trousers, and a white shirt with ginger tipped ruffles. His boutonniere was a talisman rose.

Steve Winchester served as best man. The groomsmen were Bo McDougal, Keith Tabers, and David Stephenson, brother of the groom. George Ligon and Ricky Burken served as ushers. The men wore ginger tuxedos with shirts matching the groom and had white carnation boutonnières.

Mrs. Cook chose for her daughter's wedding a formal gown of mint green quiana with a beaded bodice and circular skirt. The jacket to match had long sleeves trimmed in beadwork. Her accessories were white and she wore a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Stephenson, wore a formal gown of blue chiffon. The sleeves were full bishop, and a full floating skirt, gathered at the waist, flowed softly to the floor. A draped chiffon collar at the back completed the look. Her accessories were white and blue and she also wore a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Mary Stephenson and Mrs. Edley Nance, grandmothers of the groom, were presented with corsages of white carnations. Mrs. Francis Erwin and Mrs. Lottie Bowden, honored guests, were presented with white carnation corsages.

Guests signed the bridal register at a table covered with a white satin cloth edged in lace. Beside the bride's book was a crystal vase containing talisman silk roses. Mrs. Ricky Burken, sister of the groom, and Miss Kim Speary attended the register.

The bride's niece, Miss Tiffany Duncan, gave the guests thank-you scrolls as they entered, and later handed out rice bags.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. George Holland.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, parents of the bride, entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a floor length white satin cloth. The centerpiece was a beautiful arrangement of talisman roses, apricot, yellow, and white pom poms, and daisies. Punch, mints, and nuts were served from crystal appointments.

The wedding cake was a four tiered featuring a square bottom with round traditional three tiers atop the square. The cake was white, trimmed with many tiny apricot rosebuds encircled with hearts. The top ornament was a bridal kissing couple.

The groom's table held a chocolate cake and a silver coffee service. The cake was topped with a reluctant groom and bride ornament.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Gene Miller, Mrs. Linda Harding, Mrs. Jean Richardson, Miss Patsy Bramlett, Mrs. J. B. Dover, Miss Sandra Stark, and Mrs. Larry Lilly. Each was presented with a corsage of apricot tipped carnations.

Organ music was presented by Mrs. Johnny White and the Rev. Ron Hampton.

After the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip and are now residing in Murray.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner, given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephenson, was held at the Boston Tea Party in Murray.

The tables were decorated with apricot cloths and floral arrangements of apricot flowers and greenery. Covers were laid for twenty-five persons.

Gifts were presented to the attendants, soloist, pianist, and director.

Local Agent Says--

Special Hints On Make-up And Hair Styles Are Given

From The Desk Of Jean W. Clear

County Extension Agent For Home Economics

Too much make-up and too dark a hair shade can make a woman look old before her time.

But that doesn't mean you need let your hair show gray before you want it to, or that make-up is a no-no.

Unless you have high coloring, you'll look washed out with no make-up at all. A subtle touch with both make-up and hair color helps hold back the years.

Make-Up Base, Blush Stick

A light translucent base that matches your skin is a good beginning. Use a little or now powder, because it settles into the crease lines — just give a light touch of it to your forehead, nose and chin.

For a gentle hint of color use a cream or gel blushers, lightly applied and well blended in. For lipstick, use a becoming shade that is neither dark nor too pale.

Eye Make-up

Eye make-up is most important of all. If you use none, you'll probably look tired. If you use too much, you'll look awful.

Make-up artists suggest you use soft, clear, pale color on your lids. Use no eyeliner at all, or just a slim edging of pale gray or beige. Use a medium or dark brown mascara.

False eyelashes? — forget it unless you're going to a theatrical fancy dress ball.

Keep eyebrow natural looking — don't overpluck, and don't pencil in harsh lines. When necessary, shape and fill them in with light feathery strokes of a light-brown or gray eye pencil.

Hair Color

For gray hair flattery, use rinse that takes away the yellow and brings out highlights. If you're not ready for gray, use a subtle hair color a little lighter than your natural shade.

Ash, beige, medium brown and soft red-browns give plenty of color range. Stay away from platinum blond black, carrot reds and dark brown. They'll age you. Sharp contrasts between hair and skin color are unflattering. With the current controversy over color rinses and dyes some women are letting up on their use and concentrating their efforts on a glowing healthy head of hair.

Healthy Hair

Healthy hair depends on several things: exercise, a good diet, gentle brushing, scalp massage, staying out of the direct sunlight, and never sitting under a very hot dryer.

Routine use of a good hair conditioner is particularly important for dry hair. A creamy conditioning treatment that uses a heat cap is usually very effective, used weekly or monthly as needed.

A careful choice of shampoo that is gentle and suits your hair type is also important. Don't brush your hair when it's wet, for it's weaker then and can split off more easily. Cream rinses that take out the tangles are a good idea.

Hair Styles

Some women find short hair easier to care for, and others are happiest with long hair they can set or just twist into several becoming styles.

Softness around the face and neck is the most becoming, so avoid extremes of either tight ringlets or straight hair skinned back severely from the face.

Tonya Carroll Honored At Shower, Community Room

Miss Tonya Leigh Carroll, August fifth bride-elect of Phillip White Morris, was honored with a bridal shower held at the community room of the Peoples Bank on Tuesday, July 11, at seven p.m.

The hostesses for the special occasion were Miss Cindy Tripp, Miss Terri Stokes, and Miss Vicki White.

For the event the honoree chose to wear a two piece shrimp and yellow floral dress with a matching shawl. She was presented a corsage of yellow daisies and baby's breath tied with a yellow ribbon.

Miss Carroll opened her many to the table which was centered with a fruit filled watermelon.

The honoree was presented a food processor by the hostesses.

Independence Women Hold Program Meet

The Independence United Methodist Church Women met on Thursday, July 13, at seven p.m. at the church with Mrs. Maurita Burken as the chairman for the program on "A Guide To 'Great Bible Truths'."

Her daughter, Miss Lisa Burken, showed posters as Mrs. Burken gave explanations to several questions about these great truths. Another daughter, Miss Lori Burken, read the Biblical messages.

The list of new officers were distributed to the members by Mrs. Burken, program chairman. Mrs. Inez Hopkins, president, was in charge of business; Mrs. Myrtle Jones, secretary, read the minutes; and Mrs. Nancy Hopkins gave the financial report.

The women made a donation toward the church yard improvement, and planned an ice cream supper on Saturday night, Aug. 12, at the church.

Mrs. Maurita Burken will be in charge of the program at the August meeting giving the second part of the same program as this month.

The closing prayer was by Mrs. Inez Hopkins.

Membership Sorority Tea Planned At Fleming Home

An organizational and membership tea of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Women International will be held at the home of Kathleen Fleming 701 South 16th Street, Murray, on Saturday, July 29.

Mrs. Fleming and her cohostess, Linda Damron, will be hostesses for the tea to be held from five to nine p.m.

This organization is for persons interested in doing something to help those less fortunate than yourself and at the same time enjoy interesting educational and fun socials, the women said.

Past International Council President, Velva Blayney of Paducah, will be present to answer all questions. She will perform the charter ceremony and installation of officers in September at Mrs. Fleming's home.

Kentucky State President, Linda K. Satchwill, of

Florence will also be present. Attending from El Cajon, Calif., will be Mrs. Fleming's mother, Helen I. Riblet, a past outstanding member of the state and the first member internationally to earn the fifth degree of Pallas Athene.

For information persons may call Mrs. Fleming at 759-1288 or Mrs. Damron at 753-3710.

And James Paul Miller

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hutson of Route One, Buchanan, Tenn., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Sherry Ann, to James Paul Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Miller, 305 Corbin Street, Paris, Tenn.

The future bride is a 1977 graduate of Henry County High School, Paris, Tenn., and is presently employed by Colt Industries of Paris, Tenn.

The groom-to-be is a 1977 graduate of Henry County High School and will be a sophomore at Murray State University. He is presently employed by the Kroger Company of Paris, Tenn.

The wedding will take place at the Church of Christ at Blood River on Friday, Aug. 18, at 7:30 p.m. with Bro. Jim Canter performing the ceremony. All friends and relatives are invited to attend. Invitations are being sent to out-of-town guests only.

Immediately following the wedding a reception will be held in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
A day calling for flexibility. Don't adhere rigidly to a course when new developments definitely call for a change of policy.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
Mixed influences. Be prompt to reject unethical, or even slightly questionable schemes. Too much is at stake; too much can get out of hand.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) ♊
A friend may suggest a mutual investment. Better say no! This will not be a good period for venturing.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) ♋
Don't let the restrictions of routine dampen your ardor for achievement. But, on the other hand, don't overtax yourself. There are judicious limitations for all endeavors.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
A complex situation indicated. Play for time until certain factors are cleared up. This is one time when just "standing by" will prove the wisest course.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍
One of your ideas which others consider "visionary" seems to have solid foundation, so give it more thought and don't let others discourage you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎
Be prepared for surprises—especially in social circles. Certain odd persons or bizarre doings may raise your eyebrows. But you WILL be amused.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ♏
Keep both feet on the ground now. There's a tendency to confuse the imaginatively creative with the offbeat and impractical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐
Morning hours favor the exchange of ideas, programming for future activities, business conferences generally. Accent is on the social after 3 p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑
Certain situations may be more complex than you realize. Avoid any involvement which could damage your prestige.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒
A sharp and, in some areas, unexpected surge of activity. Keep in step with events—but without anxiety.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓
Caution urged in business negotiations. Certain factors you may have taken for granted may prove otherwise. Be especially careful with details.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, lofty ambitions and unusually strong qualities of leadership. You are extremely gregarious and high-spirited; are magnanimous by nature and, in your climb to success, often bring others along with you in remarkable fashion. Leoties make extraordinarily brilliant executives, able trial lawyers and politicians, highly imaginative artists and writers, and are skilled in practically all branches of the entertainment field. You are extremely generous to those whom you love, but often try to run their lives in return. Curb this trait. Learn to give for the sheer joy of giving. Birthdate of: Leo Durocher, baseball player, coach and manager; Keenan Wynn, film actor.

Hospice Movement Is Growing

Q. Mrs. H. Z. writes that she has been reading a great deal lately about managing terminal illnesses at hospices rather than at hospitals. She has an aged uncle who has cancer of the prostate and who may be in need of care in the final stages of his illness. She would like information and advice.

A. Interest in the hospice is on the increase in the United States, probably as a result of the criticism of the hospital. Its care is considered to be primarily directed to cure of illness rather than the comfort of the sufferer. Also, the growing costs of hospitalization is another source of criticism.

Hospices became popular in Great Britain during the last decade and have developed a reputation for adding to the comfort and security of cancer victims. The supportive attitudes of nurses and other patients have made favorable impressions and have filled needs that terminal patients have that are not met in the average hospital or at home.

Health Insurance News estimated recently that about 70 hospices have now been founded in America, and more likely will be developed.

Care is being extended to patients who suffer from terminal illnesses other than cancer. A more recent development is the extension of hospice services to patients who remain at home during their final illnesses. The consent and support of the patient's physician is essential in the management of such cases.

Such home care can often be adequate, provided trained personnel are available to help in treatment or to supervise it. The cost to the patient is usually considerably less than in a hospital. These hospice costs are being covered more now than in former years by Medicare, Medicaid, and insurance. This coverage will help to expand this kind of hospice services.

Theresa Lynn Sanders Is Married To Mr. Jones In Church Ceremony Saturday

Miss Theresa Lynn Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nicholas Sanders, Jr. of Louisville, and Michael Irvin Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Byron of Livonia, Mich., were married Saturday afternoon, July twenty-second, at St. Albert the Great Catholic Church in Louisville.

The Rev. Monsignor J. A. O'Bryan officiated at the two p.m. double ring ceremony. Serving as acolytes were the bride's two youngest brothers, Stephen Cole and William Earl Sanders.

Candelabra interlaced with baby's breath and springrie blended with plants of leatherleaf to frame the altar, and on each of the two side wall pedestals was a vase arrangement of gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Byron Scott Jones of Murfreesboro, Tenn., served as his brother's best man; and groomsmen were Robert Lewis Baar, Murray, Jay Douglas Jones, Plymouth, Mich., brother of the groom; and Joseph Gregory and Charles Robert Sanders, brothers of the bride.

Miss Nancy Elizabeth Sanders served as her sister's maid of honor; and Mrs. Robert Lewis Baar and Mrs. Jay Douglas Jones served as bridesmaids, all in gowns of blue taffeta overlaid with ivory cotton voile. An ivory lace peplum outlined the scooped neck and their colonial bouquets were of bachelor buttons, daisies, miniature carnations, sweetheart roses and baby's breath with streamers of blue ribbon.

Bride's Dress
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the gown of her mother and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Embury Van Houten, Jr. of Atlanta, Georgia, of ivory satin with square-cut yoke and outlined in seed pearls. Satin buttons and loops closed the back of the dress to the waist and sleeves to the wrist. Wide bands of lace encircled the skirt and were tied in a huge bow with its streamers ending in the train.

Her intermittent length mantilla edged in French Peau de Gaze lace was attached to a crown of pearl accented lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath with streamers of ivory ribbon.

The bride's mother wore a shirtwaist gown of beige quanna and the groom's mother a borderprint of sheer cotton polyester accented with tiny blue and yellow flowers over white taffeta. Both wore corsages of white roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Each of the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. William Walter Cole of Atlanta, and Mrs. Joseph Nicholas Sanders of Paducah, were presented with a white rose corsage. Also in attendance, seated with his parents, was the groom's youngest brother David.

Reception
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. William O'Leary of Louisville and Miss Olivia Lea Van Houten of Atlanta, cousin of the bride, kept the bride's book. The bride's cousins, Miss Allyson Sanders, Miss Jennifer and Lynda Sturgis, all of Paducah, and Miss Corinne Van Houten of Atlanta assisted at the reception.

Following a week's honeymoon in a private lakeside cottage near Lake Michigan, the couple will be at home in Murray.

EDITORIAL

U.S. Survival Is The Issue

Even if the Carter administration could reach a meeting of minds with the Russians on arms control, which is far from certain, ratification of a new SALT accord by the Senate this year appears to be increasingly remote.

Moscow was anything but helpful in recent days with harsh sentences meted out to Soviet dissidents and fines imposed upon U.S. journalists. And the furor over U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young's statement about U.S. political prisoners has made some senators more irascible than usual about U.S.-Soviet relations.

But these issues are, actually, irrelevant to limiting the arms race. Senate uncertainty about an arms agreement finds a real basis in the relentless Soviet arms buildup, in Soviet aggrandizement around the world, and in Soviet intransigence on arms-limitation terms. To these serious negatives must be added a growing unease about America's sagging military posture.

The Russians demonstrated their toughness anew in two days of hard bargaining at Geneva with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance; negotiators failed to break the long-time deadlock on limiting strategic bombers and missiles — questions that go to the very heart of the whole SALT enterprise.

The bomber dispute exposes the unreasonableness of the Soviets, and their unrealistic terms. Although this country's aging B-52 bombers are counted as strategic weapons and, therefore, limited under the SALT agreement, the Russians insist that their powerful new Backfire bomber, which could lay waste the United States with nuclear bombs, be outside SALT ceilings. In a major bid for agreement last September, the administration conceded this vital point while asking for less rigid "collateral constraints." The Soviet Union stubbornly refuses to accept the slightest restriction on its new bomber and offers only to provide a statement by Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev promising not to use the Backfire against the United States.

But this is only one part of the SALT problem.

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., a pivotal figure in the Senate arms debate, warns that a new SALT agreement must take into account the growing vulnerability of the U.S. missile deterrent. He estimates that within seven years or sooner, 90 percent of America's Minuteman and Titan missiles could be destroyed by a surprise attack because of a new generation of powerful, accurate Soviet ICBMs.

Until the United States can offset Soviet missile superiority, an interim Pentagon plan calls for shuffling the Minuteman from silo to silo to keep the Russians from knowing where to aim an attack. Our strategic concerns are compounded by the fact that one-half of the U.S. missile firepower must rely for delivery on the outmoded B-52 bombers that would stand little chance of getting past 2,680 Soviet interceptor aircraft and an estimated 10,000 anti-aircraft missile launchers.

The cruise missile, a subsonic, pilotless craft of great accuracy, is America's strongest card at the moment, but the Russians are said to have all but neutralized this system by getting U.S. negotiators to limit its range under the new SALT terms.

A cursory examination of the SALT issues suggests the complexity of strategic problems in the nuclear age through which we feel our way. And yet, the average American can sense through all the complications that something is seriously amiss in the arms talks if the Russians, after negotiations dating back to the Ford administration, are still insisting that we accept a Brezhnev promise as an integral part of a new treaty. And because time is not necessarily our ally in the matter of nuclear survival, it would seem the Carter administration should countenance no further delay in obtaining an acceptable new arms limitation treaty or, that failing, in looking to our strategic defenses.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems—fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: My wife and I are retired on Social Security and my company's pension program. We are both over 65, so we are also on Medicare. Our financial situation is in good shape, since we do not have to go into our savings account to meet our living expenses. The one thing that worries my wife and me is the possibility of a long sickness that will deplete our savings. The only insurance we now have is Medicare. Do you think we should buy some more health insurance to go with the Medicare?—C.K.

Heartline cannot advise you to buy extra insurance to supplement the Medicare program. However, we can give you some facts and information which can assist you in making the decision.

Since each person's financial picture is different, insurance needs also vary. There are many types of insurance policies on the market with a great variety of coverage. However, the Heartline staff does feel that Medicare is inadequate for most people over age 65 and that often some type of extra insurance is desirable. Helen Alpert, associate editor of "Retirement Living," says that this type of insurance "is not only desirable but essential for most retirees nowadays. An accident or sudden illness can quickly wipe out a person's savings." Another reason for having this insurance is that health-care costs are headed for another doubling within the next six years. And as medical costs increase, Medicare coverage has been gradually decreasing.

Answering and explaining problems on health insurance has been one of the primary functions of Heartline during the last four years. Because many people do not know what they need and do not understand the policies they see, Heartline has prepared a brochure to help you in making a wise decision when purchasing your insurance. This brochure covers tips in buying a policy. For a copy of this free literature, write to: Heartline-Health Insurance, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Please enclose a 15-cent stamp

U.S., Israel and Egypt Shift the Site Of Mideast Parley to British Castle

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

Begin's Israel

JERUSALEM—Bitterness here over Carter administration peace pressures, now deepening inside the hard-line government of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, is more genuine than tactical.

"On occasion the U. S. is actually tougher than the Arabs on us," one Begin insider told us. "It is not unusual to see an American position at least identical to that of the Arabs."

Although such talk serves to keep the heat on President Carter in hopes of lifting him out of his allegedly anti-Israel rut, the mood at the top suggests something more ominous. It suggests a decision to fight Mr. Carter with all of Israel's resources and, if necessary, to defy him even at the risk of Israel's greatest asset: the essential U. S. connection.

"Look at me," Begin told us with a smile as he gobbled lunch during a recent session of the Israeli parliament. "My health is good." Translated, that was notice to Washington that the master of Israeli politics is ready for battle.

His top political aides privately say he feels the Carter administration has used him badly. More to the point, they insist that so long as Menachem Begin is running Israel, language will not be found that can satisfactorily link the Israeli-Egyptian settlement — desperately wanted by Begin — to any futuristic West Bank-Palestinian solution, which Egyptian President Anwar Sadat must also have.

With Begin calling the shots, most of his lieutenants reflect his bunker mood. Moshe Arens, No. 4 leader in Begin's controlling Herut party and chairman of the Knesset's powerful Defense Committee, compares what Israel is asked to do on the West Bank with the U. S. disarming is intercontinental missiles. "Taking your missiles out of their silos might not result in a Soviet attack," he told us, "but it might."

Such hobgoblin analogies are routine these days, but however far-fetched, they probably reflect more than just political pressure tactics. For example, another Begin lieutenant told us: "The Arab world is built on sand. Israel cannot justify any long-range agreements because there is absolutely no promise of fulfillment."

That is a far cry from Gold Meir's old appeal: if only the Arabs could talk to Israel, what glorious things would be possible!

In highest government quarters today, Sadat — the man who talked to Israel — is ridiculed and disparaged. Zalmond Shoval, a key adviser to Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan, asked the Jerusalem Post last week whether Sadat's "real" purpose is not peace at all but "through diplomatic maneuvers and power plays... to achieve what four aggressive wars against us" could not achieve — presumably, the destruction of Israel.

Against this onslaught, the efforts of Defense Minister Ezer Weizman to play a softer duet with Sadat have infuriated Begin and his inner circle. Weizman was humiliated last week when Begin postponed a cabinet discussion on the Sadat-Weizman talks in Austria. That buries Weizman under this week's London meeting between Dayan and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Kamel, which now supersedes the Sadat-Weizman chat.

Such bare-knuckle internal politics match the hard line on the U. S. and the Arabs. Begin and Sadat are on a collision course, partly as a result of their initial misunderstanding of each other's original purpose. Begin thought Sadat was really pushing for a separate peace with Israel when he came here last November; Sadat thought Begin would understand that no separate peace was possible without a tangible Israeli commitment toward an acceptable future West Bank solution.

Further fouling this fest is Sadat's distrust of Dayan as tricky; Begin's anger at Sadat's splitting tactics aimed at his government; and Kamel's dismissal by Begin as a diplomatic ingenu.

But that pales alongside the bitterness directed against Jimmy Carter and his Mideast peace plans. Begin's men seem truly convinced that Mr. Carter has surrendered to the Arabs. No matter how preposterous that belief, it portends a no-win clash of possibly tragic dimensions for both Israel and the U. S.

Business Mirror

New Magazine For Businesses

NEW YORK (AP) — A brand-new magazine is being published for those who run the country's small businesses, a magazine that is likely to attract attention not only for quality but for marketing approach too.

Slick, colorful, very professional, Successful Business, a quarterly, exemplifies its name. The editors clearly know what they are about, and why shouldn't they. They have had lots of experience.

Chris Whittle, publisher, and Phillip Moffitt, editor, are the acknowledged whiz kids of publishing, this being the ninth publication they and their associates have founded in the past eight years or so.

Their company, 13-30 Corp., begun when they were students at the University of Tennessee, is well into the black now, but they can't forget owing friends and relatives more than $1 million in the past.

They know small businesses, and they know markets too. Their original publication, Nutshell, is aimed at the college market. 18 Almanac is for high schoolers. Young Marriage explains itself.

Focusing on the youth market, they also produce a travel magazine. Two of their publications help promote the U.S. Army as a career. And more might be coming, because 13-30 refers to the age of their interests.

In every instance, the editorial products of 13-30, which utilize the best efforts of professional writers, are distributed free through arrangements with advertisers seeking to reach specific markets.

The degree of association varies. Various colleges seeking students, for example, have advertising arrangements with and help distribute 18 Almanac.

But America, a travel publication, is sponsored, though not editorially controlled, by Datsun. While it accepts advertising from various companies, it is distributed mainly by Datsun alone.

That brings up the odd parentage of Successful Business, whose cover carries the label "The Magazine For Independent Business." But the magazine itself is not independent; a Fortune 500 company owns it.

That company, Control Data Corp., and its subsidiary, Commercial Credit Company, have a keen, salesman's interest in the small business-market and felt that one of its great needs was a good magazine.

They approached Whittle and Moffitt, who at first were less than cordial. In the past, they themselves had conceived their publications and then had sold the ideas to sponsors. This was different.

The agreement reached was this: 13-30 would have full editorial control under a two-year contract; Control Data would own the publication and take care of marketing and financial matters.

Looking Back

10 Years Ago

Dr. John Williams of the Biology Department of Murray State University was the speaker yesterday at the regular meeting of the Murray Rotary Club. His subject was "Firearms."

Deaths reported include Gilbert Cobb, age 90.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Louis Smith of Kirksey Route One will celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary on July 30. Linda Billington of Murray was first runnerup to Aleta Thacker, Mayfield, queen, in the Purchase District Fair contest at Mayfield.

The Oaks Country Club was host for the Ladies Tri-State Golf Tournament held July 24. Sue Taylor was the championship flight winner.

20 Years Ago

One of the oldest homes in Murray burned July 24 when the old Gatlin family homeplace at Third and Maple Streets, now owned by Ronald Churchill, became practically a total loss.

Army PFC Jake Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnett, recently participated in the VII Corps Marksmanship Matches in Germany.

Deaths reported include Harley (Hob) Johnson, age 49.

Sam Kelley of Murray won the West Kentucky Championship Skeet Shoot in Mayfield on July 20 by breaking 99 out of 100 birds in the 12 guage event.

The Murray Pony League team edged Henderson 4 to 3 on July 24 in district tournament play at Evansville, Ind., to advance to the semi-finals.

30 Years Ago

James M. Lassiter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lassiter of Murray, has been named managing editor of the Kentucky Law Journal at the University of Kentucky beginning with the fall semester, 1948, the College of Law has announced.

Deaths reported include Roy Barnett, age 56, and Curt McDaniels, age 65.

Miss Martha Sue Workman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Workman, was married to Willie Owen Vinson, son of Mrs. Orlena Vinson, on July 17.

The Hazel High School PTA will present Arlie Brunley and his Radioaires Quartet in a program at the high school auditorium on July 30. J. T. (Tom) Workman was honored with a dinner on his 73rd birthday held at the picnic area of Kentucky Dam State Park on July 24.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 26, the 207th day of 1978. There are 158 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1953, Fidel Castro began his revolt in Cuba, attacking an army barracks at Santiago.

On this date:

In 1759, the French abandoned Fort Ticonderoga in New York to the British in the French and Indian War.

In 1891, France annexed the Pacific island of Tahiti.

In 1944, in World War II, German V-2 rockets hit targets in England for the first time.

In 1952, Argentina's first lady, Eva Peron, died.

In 1956, Egyptian crowds hailed President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Alexandria as he issued a decree nationalizing the Suez Canal.

In 1967, there was racial rioting in several American cities, and the Black leader, H. Rap Brown, arrested by the FBI in Washington, vowed: "We'll burn this country down."

Ten years ago: Democratic Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts removed himself from consideration as a vice presidential candidate.

Five years ago: The United States cast its fifth veto in the U.N. Security Council, killing a resolution that deplored Israel's continued occupation of Arab lands seized in the 1967 Six-Day War.

One year ago: Prime Minister Menachem Begin officially approved three controversial Israeli settlements in former Arab territory on the West Bank of the Jordan River.

Today's birthdays: Writer Alice Winchester is 71 years old. Cellist Leonard Ross is 60. Republican Sen. Marlow Cook of Kentucky is 52.

Thought for today: The chief virtue of an air conditioner is that the neighbors can't borrow it — anonymous.

Bible Thought

Wherefore God hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow... Philippians 2:9-10

Austin Tops Purcell In First Round Of Louisville Classic

Mel Purcell

Mel Purcell dropped a tough 7-6, 4-6, 7-5 decision to John Austin in the first round of the Louisville Tennis Classic Tuesday. The match was a completion of one which started Monday afternoon, but was halted by rain with Austin leading 4-3 in the first set. The match was a 2½-hour marathon, and the final set saw Purcell overcome a 5-2 final-set deficit to even the match at 5-5. Austin held serve to go up 6-5, and Purcell, serving at 15-40, double match point, double-faulted. Purcell and doubles partner Charlie Ellis faced Mike Machette and Sashi Memon in first-round doubles action at 1 p.m. today.

North Is Murray's Last Hope In Ky. League Tourney

Any chances of a Murray winner in the Kentucky League All-Star tournament which continues Thursday will have to come from the North.

That's because two Murray squads, the East and the South, lost to Mayfield No. 4 and Mayfield No. 1, respectively, in final first-round games Tuesday.

Since the West lost Monday night, that leaves only the North, a 5-3 winner Monday, against the three Mayfield teams in the semifinals Thursday.

The East All-Stars made a valiant comeback attempt. Behind 8-0 after three innings, they scored seven runs over the next two frames to pull within one.

But Mayfield No. 4 scored four times in the fifth, then hung on for 12-8 victory.

In the second game, Murray South dropped a 12-2 decision to Mayfield No. 1.

Mayfield No. 4 hurler Kevin Mathis had a rather erratic night on the mound. He allowed only one hit, to Shawn McClure in the fifth, but he walked 17 batters and struck out 13.

Allen Hargis and Terry Watson each scored twice for Murray East.

Tony McClure and Hargis shared the East pitching duties, combining for five strikeouts.

In the second game, Murray South was held hitless by Mayfield No. 1 pitcher Bob Whitnell. He fanned out the side three times and finished with 13 strikeouts.

South scored runs in the first and fifth innings. Greg Futrell reached on a walk and scored on an error.

In the fifth, Darren Clark opened the frame with a walk and scored on another walk and a groundout. Murray North faces Mayfield No. 2 in the first game Thursday at 6:30 p.m., followed by Mayfield No. 4 against Mayfield No. 1 at 8:30 p.m.

Gottfried Weathers Waltke For 1st Round Victory; Dibbs, Orantes, Tanner Advance

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Top-seeded Brian Gottfried of Australia got off to a slow start but rallied in the final two sets of the opening round of the $175,000 Louisville International Tennis Classic.

Gottfried beat unseeded Trey Waltke of Los Angeles, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1 Tuesday to advance to today's second round against Mike Cahill of Wilmington, Del., who earned his spot by defeating Tony Graham 7-5, 6-3.

"I have a history of starting slow," said Gottfried, whose serve was broken three times in the first set. "I don't like it but that's the way it is. If you're a slow starter you have to be a fast finisher."

Gottfried poured it on in the second and third sets. In the second set, he managed a 4-1 lead, breaking Waltke's serve twice. But Waltke broke Gottfried's serve in the next game and won the next two games to pull within 4-3.

In Tuesday night's final match No. 2 seed Eddie Dibbs of Miami Beach, Fla., had an easy time with Paul McNamee of Australia 6-2, 6-2. Dibbs was the runner-up to last year's champion Guillermo Vilas.

Meantime, third seed Manuel Orantes of Spain disposed of South African John Yuill 6-3, 6-3.

Roscoe Tanner, the No. 4 seed, found the going tough for a while before beating Peter Pearson of San Francisco 7-6, 6-2. Tanner, of Kiawah Island, S.C., led five games to three in the first set with each player breaking serve once.

Tanner won the 12th game, forcing a seven-point tie-breaker which he won. The 1976 tournament champion, fifth-seeded Harold Solomon of Pompano, Fla., had trouble with Ricardo Cano of Buenos Aires, losing the first set 3-6 but winning the final two 6-0, 6-3.

Other seeded players in the win column Tuesday included No. 6 Dick Stockton of Carrollton, Texas, who beat Columbia's Alvaro Betancur 6-1, 6-4. No. 7 seed Wojtek Fibak of Poland beat Brian Fairlie of Australia 6-1, 2-6, 6-1.

John Alexander of Australia, seeded eighth, defeated Ramiro Benavides of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 6-4, 4-6, 6-1. Tenth-seeded Jaime Fillol of Chile downed Jeff Borowiak of Tiburon, Calif., 6-2, 6-4, while 11th-seeded Stan Smith beat Sashi Menon 6-2, 6-3.

38 Straight!

Rose Breaks NL Mark; Sets Sights On Ty Cobb

NEW YORK (AP) — The plan was to let Pete Rose swing at anything, and to the devil with strategy.

It was, after all, his night. Rose, the indomitable sparkplug of the Cincinnati Reds, made the most of his freedom at the plate Tuesday night, stroking two singles and a double to extend his hitting streak to 38 games, a modern National League record.

"I told you I'd be back tonight," Rose told reporters as he mounted the podium after his record-breaking performance in a 9-2 loss to the New York Mets. "The record feels great, but not the outcome of the game."

Rose broke the record in the third inning. With one out, he was greeted at the plate by a standing ovation from the crowd of 38,158 at Shea Stadium. He took the first pitch from right-hander Craig

Swan for a ball. He fouled back the next pitch, and then he lashed a low line drive into left field.

"The first pitch was low and outside," Rose said. "Swan was throwing real hard, so I choked up another quarter of an inch. I fouled off the next pitch, but I felt better. On the next pitch, I just laid it out there in left field."

Rose doubled and scored in the fifth inning. Batting left-handed against Swan, the switch-hitting Rose cracked a 3-1 delivery into left center. It bounced over the fence for a ground-rule double and after taking third on a sacrifice fly, Rose scored on Joe Morgan's grounder to second.

Rose hit a weak, broken-bat single into right center in the seventh.

Before the game, Reds' manager Sparky Anderson vowed, "He'll hit tonight ... I won't take the bat out of his hands. Even if it's a 3-0 pitch, he'll have the swing sign."

And swing he did. Rose came to the plate four times, and for the fifth time in his streak, he got three hits. His only out of the night was leading off the first inning when he took a ball inside, then lofted a routine fly to Met leftfielder Steve Henderson near the foul line.

"Tonight, the ball looked as big as a beach ball," said Rose. "Tomorrow it may look like a golf ball."

After his third-inning single, the fans at Shea Stadium — where Rose once was the target of boos and flying beer bottles — gave him a three-minute standing ovation. Rose doffed his cap to the crowd and Tommy Holmes, the former Boston Braves' great whose 1945 record Rose broke, rushed out to congratulate him.

Met first baseman Willie Montanez said he "tried to give Rose the ball, but he said, 'No, no. Give it to the other guy (Holmes).'"

"Pete told me last night that if he gets the hit, he would give me the baseball," said Holmes. "But when he gave it to me on the field, I gave it back. It's his honor and his moment."

Asked if he would now give the ball to the Hall of Fame, Rose replied, "I'll keep the ball. I hit it, I'll keep it." Rose was stranded on first at the end of the inning, but instead of bringing him his glove, as is customary, his teammates made Rose retrieve it himself.

"They didn't carry the glove out to me," said Rose. "They made me come in and get it so they could shake my hand."

The next hitting streak in Rose's sights is that of Ty Cobb, who hit in 40-straight in 1911. George Sisler had a 41-game streak in 1922. A couple of pre-1900 players had streaks in the forties also. Bill Dahlen hit in 42 straight games in 1894, and Wee Willie Keeler had a 44-game streak in 1897.

While Rose was a one-man gang for the Reds, the Mets had everybody hitting. They scored five runs in the fourth inning on five hits, including an RBI double by John Stearns, a run-scoring single by Doug Flynn and a two-run single by Len Randle. Elsewhere in the National League, Vida Blue won his 14th game as San Francisco rallied to top St. Louis 3-2. Atlanta blanked Philadelphia 4-0, Houston edged Montreal 3-2 in 13 innings, San Diego nipped Pittsburgh 2-1 and Los Angeles beat Chicago 3-1.

Giants 3, Cardinals 2

San Francisco won the type of game that has boosted them to the top of the NL West. Blue, 14-4, carried a five-hit shutout into the ninth, but two-out RBI singles by pinch-hitter Roger Freed and Mike Tyson put the Cardinals ahead 2-1.

But Larry Herndon singled with one out in the bottom of the ninth off Bob Forsch, 9-10, and Mike Ivie pinch-hit a game-winning two-run homer.

Braves 4, Phillies 0

Tommy Boggs, recalled from the minor leagues two weeks ago after posting a 1-5 record and a 6.75 ERA for the Braves earlier this season, blanked the Phillies on four hits.

Biff Pocoroba hit a three-run homer to support Boggs. Regulars Greg Luzinski and Bake McBride sat out the contest for Philadelphia.

Astros 3, Expos 2

Jose Cruz homered with two outs in the ninth to tie the game, then Art Howe singled home Rafael Landestoy in the 13th to win it for Houston.

Ken Forsch, 6-4, picked up his fourth victory in the last 12 games.

Padres 2, Pirates 1

Dave Winfield's one-out single scored Gene Richards from second in the ninth inning to lift San Diego over Pittsburgh. Richards singled for his third hit of the game leading off the ninth and advanced on a sacrifice. Pirates relief ace Kent Tekulve walked Oscar Gamble intentionally and Winfield then got his hit.

Dodgers 3, Cubs 1

Tommy John made only his second relief appearance of the season and picked up his first save by retiring the Cubs in the ninth. Rick Rhoden, 8-5, was the winner for Dodgers and Rick Reuschel, 9-8, lost. Davey Lopes led off the first for Los Angeles with his 11th home run, matching his career high.

Legion, Paducah Vie For District

Murray American Legion Post 73 faces Paducah in the district tournament Thursday at Ty Holland Stadium. The double-elimination event will run through Saturday, if needed, with single games each night at 7 p.m.

If Murray wins the tourney, it will host the Western Sectional, which begins Thursday, August 3. Tickets will be sold at the gate — $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The next few days will be a lot harder for the New York Yankees than the last few. Bob Lemon, Ron Swoboda, won't pitch Sunday.

"It's nice to be 15-1 pitcher going into the season," Lemon said, "after his success in 1977."

ANAHEIM, Calif. — The Rams' move from the Coliseum to Anaheim in 1980 was a packed press conference. There was one present. Carroll announced the move. He wouldn't believe it.

"The final chapter is written," the National Football League said. "The Rams have been around for 100 years. I don't want to be here until I actually see too many moves, not many moves, not many moves."

"I won't believe it until I actually see it here in 1980."

Despite the caution, the Rams will move to Anaheim.

Lopez Back

LOS ANGELES — Nancy Lopez, one year without a major victory, is back. Nicklaus severed out.

"You just can't golf week after week," said the superstar of Professional Golf Tour, who was a $100,000 winner at Calabasas Park Oct. 1.

And, like Nicklaus, Lopez has decided to schedule next year's tour.

"I can't post much as I'm young," she said. "Next year I'll have three events to take some time."

"I think people see me rested and more than tired and I did in the U.S."

The 5-foot-4 Roswell, N.M., end her first LPGA with a Open and had a for the lead around.

Then came a during round sudden it was year."

"I learned that tournament."

"I really thought to win, but I lost. I didn't practice should have prepared the next Lopez has that she's ready time."

During a beginning in won five tournaments to set record. Mickey Whitworth Englehorn has previous record.

Louisville Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — round singles results: the annual $175,000 International Tennis Classic.

Brian Gottfried of Australia, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1 Tuesday to advance to today's second round against Mike Cahill of Wilmington, Del., who earned his spot by defeating Tony Graham 7-5, 6-3.

"I have a history of starting slow," said Gottfried, whose serve was broken three times in the first set. "I don't like it but that's the way it is. If you're a slow starter you have to be a fast finisher."

Gottfried poured it on in the second and third sets. In the second set, he managed a 4-1 lead, breaking Waltke's serve twice. But Waltke broke Gottfried's serve in the next game and won the next two games to pull within 4-3.

In Tuesday night's final match No. 2 seed Eddie Dibbs of Miami Beach, Fla., had an easy time with Paul McNamee of Australia 6-2, 6-2. Dibbs was the runner-up to last year's champion Guillermo Vilas.

Meantime, third seed Manuel Orantes of Spain disposed of South African John Yuill 6-3, 6-3.

Roscoe Tanner, the No. 4 seed, found the going tough for a while before beating Peter Pearson of San Francisco 7-6, 6-2. Tanner, of Kiawah Island, S.C., led five games to three in the first set with each player breaking serve once.

Tanner won the 12th game, forcing a seven-point tie-breaker which he won. The 1976 tournament champion, fifth-seeded Harold Solomon of Pompano, Fla., had trouble with Ricardo Cano of Buenos Aires, losing the first set 3-6 but winning the final two 6-0, 6-3.

Other seeded players in the win column Tuesday included No. 6 Dick Stockton of Carrollton, Texas, who beat Columbia's Alvaro Betancur 6-1, 6-4. No. 7 seed Wojtek Fibak of Poland beat Brian Fairlie of Australia 6-1, 2-6, 6-1.

John Alexander of Australia, seeded eighth, defeated Ramiro Benavides of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 6-4, 4-6, 6-1. Tenth-seeded Jaime Fillol of Chile downed Jeff Borowiak of Tiburon, Calif., 6-2, 6-4, while 11th-seeded Stan Smith beat Sashi Menon 6-2, 6-3.

Guidry Cools Red-Hot Kansas City; Boston Drops 6th In Seven Games

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The next few games figure to be a lot harder for the New York Yankees and Manager Bob Lemon. Ron Guidry, you see, won't pitch again until Sunday.

"It's nice to break in with a 15-1 pitcher going for you," Lemon said Tuesday night after his successful debut as Billy Martin's replacement — a 4-0 victory over the red-hot Kansas City Royals behind Guidry's six-hit pitching.

It was the slender left-hander's second straight shutout as he stopped the Royals' 10-game winning streak.

In other American League action, the Minnesota Twins knocked off the slumping

Boston Red Sox 5-2, the Chicago White Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Texas Rangers 7-6, the Cleveland Indians stopped the California Angels 4-2, the Detroit Tigers pounded the Oakland A's 11-2 and the Seattle Mariners defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 4-2.

The Yankees scored the only run Guidry needed against Paul Splittorff in the third inning on an error, a stolen base and Willie Randolph's double. Thurman Munson, Roy White and Jim Spencer added run-scoring hits in the eighth.

Twins 5, Red Sox 2

Dan Ford drove in three runs with a triple and a single and rookie Roger Erickson won his 10th game with help from Mike Marshall as Minnesota handed Boston its sixth defeat in the last seven games.

White Sox 4, Brewers 2

Bob Molinaro broke an 0-for-12 slump with a fifth-inning homer and Francisco Barrios gained his first victory in eight starts. The White Sox took a 2-0 lead in the second inning on a walk, singles by Ron Blomberg and Tom Spencer and a double by Bill Nahorodny.

Orioles 7, Rangers 6

Doug DeCinces clubbed two homers, one a grand slam, as Baltimore handed Texas its eighth consecutive setback. DeCinces homered in the fourth and fifth innings off Doyle Alexander as the Orioles captured their 10th victory in 13 outings since the All-Star break.

Indians 5, Angels 1

Solo homers by Bernie Carbo and Johnny Grubb and a two-run single by Andre Thornton paced Cleveland's victory while Mike Paxton picked up the victory with 12-3 innings of relief from Dan Spillner.

Tigers 11, A's 2

Milt Wilcox fired a five-hitter and Tim Lincecum, Ron LeFlore and Alan Trammell drove in two runs apiece as the Tigers pummeled four Oakland pitchers for 15 hits.

Mariners 4, Blue Jays 2

Leon Roberts' two-run homer in the ninth inning broke a tie after the Mariners tied the score in the seventh on Bob Robertson's solo home run. Rico Carty and Alan Ashby homered for Toronto.

All-Star Little Leaguers

Rosenbloom Skeptical Of Rams' Move

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Rams' much-ballyhooed move from the Los Angeles Coliseum to Anaheim Stadium in 1980 was announced at a packed press conference, but there was one notable skeptic present. Carroll Rosenbloom announced the shift, then said he wouldn't believe it until he saw it.

"The final chapter is still to be written," the owner of the National Football League Rams said Tuesday. "I've been around long enough to learn not to believe anything until I actually see it. I've seen too many mergers, too many moves, not come off."

"I won't believe it until I actually see the Rams playing here in 1980."

Despite Rosenbloom's caution, the Rams' 35-mile move to Anaheim Stadium seems assured after the team's lease with the Coliseum runs out at the end of the 1979 season.

A $22-million program to revamp Anaheim Stadium — including increasing the capacity from 43,204 to 70,000 — is slated to begin later this year, and a $150-million complex adjacent to the stadium is planned. That complex — shops, a hotel, theaters — will be built by private developers.

The go-ahead for both awaited Rosenbloom's decision to move the team, which had played in the Coliseum since coming west from Cleveland in 1946. He, the proposed developers and the city of Anaheim have signed a "letter of agreement," with some details of the 30-year stadium lease still to be worked out.

Rosenbloom, who traded his Baltimore Colts for the Rams in 1972, had wanted the Coliseum remodeled, and began looking for a new home when it became apparent it would not.

He had specifically sought more and better parking near the facility, built in the late 1920s in an area that has since shown signs of urban decay. Rosenbloom also hoped to have the running track removed and the field lowered so prime seats could be added, and he wanted executive suite boxes constructed.

The uncertainty of Los Angeles' bid for the 1984 Olympics, with the Coliseum proposed as the focal point for the Games, clouded any possible improvements for the stadium, site of the 1932 Olympics.

The Rams' owner indicated all his needs would be met in Anaheim Stadium, which now has the American League California Angels as its only major tenant.

"We feel the facility in Anaheim is the most conducive to fan comfort in many ways — parking, access roads, seating, restroom and refreshment stand facilities," he said, adding that architects doing the remodeling assure him fans will have excellent sight lines to the field.

Lopez Planning To Cut Back On 1979 Schedule

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nancy Lopez has learned in one year what it took Jack Nicklaus several years to find out.

"You just can't play good golf week after week after week," said the young superstar of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, who was here to promote a $100,000 tournament at Calabasas Park on Sept. 28-Oct. 1.

And, like Nicklaus, Lopez has decided she'll cut back her schedule next year.

"I can't possibly play as much as I'm playing this year," she said Tuesday. "Next year I'll play in two or three events in a row, then take some time off."

"I think people would rather see me rested and playing well than tired and playing the way I did in the U.S. Open."

The 5-foot-4½ golfer from Roswell, N.M., had hoped to end her first full year on the LPGA with a victory in the Open and had moved into a tie for the lead after the second round.

Then came a disastrous 79 during round three. All of a sudden it was "Wait till next year."

"I learned something from that tournament," said Lopez. "I really thought I was ready to win, but I obviously wasn't. I didn't practice as much as I should have. I'll be better prepared the next time."

Lopez has shown this year that she's ready most of the time.

During a six-week stretch beginning in mid May, she won five consecutive tournaments to set a new LPGA record. Mickey Wright, Kathy Whitworth and Shirley Englehorn had shared the previous record of four consecutive victories.

"Now there's another record I'd like to break," Lopez said. "I'd like to break Judy Rankin's single-season money record."

Rankin set the record of $150,735 two years ago, and Lopez' 1977 showing — including seven victories — has already earned her $137,997.

"What would really be nice," she said, "would be to have a $200,000 year. I know that any money records that are set are likely to be broken because the purses are going up, but it still would be nice to win that much this year."

Nordiques To Play Exhibition Matches

QUEBEC (AP) — The Quebec Nordiques of the World Hockey Association will play six National Hockey League teams in exhibition matches as part of the team's preseason schedule, team officials say.

At a news conference called to promote the sale of season tickets, the officials said the Nordiques would play the Colorado Rockies on Sept. 27, the Washington Capitals on Sept. 30, the Minnesota North Stars on Oct. 1, the Pittsburgh Penguins on Oct. 3, the Chicago Black Hawks on Oct. 5 and the New York Rangers on Oct. 7.

Japan Volleyball Team Wins Again

WINNIPEG (CP) — Japan overcame a strong challenge from Canada in men's exhibition volleyball Tuesday night to win a fourth straight match on its current North American tour.

The Japanese national team got by the Canadians 15-6, 16-18, 15-13, 15-12 to keep its unbeaten record intact.

The Japanese team was to travel to Dayton, Ohio, today for matches against the U.S. national team and then on to Mexico for further competition.

Racing Shifts To Del Mar's Seaside

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Thoroughbred racing shifted from the Los Angeles area to Del Mar's seaside track today.

During the 43-day racing season at Del Mar, north of San Diego, there will be racing six days each week, with the track closed only on Tuesday. The feature event of today's opening was the Oceanside Stakes for 3-year-olds, at 7½ furlongs on the turf course. The field was split into two divisions when 17 entries were received.

The 76-day Hollywood Park meeting closed Monday after setting a California wagering record of over $310 million.

Martin Full Of Controversy, Clubs Continue To Give Him Job

FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If an executive was fired by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler for insubordination, do you think Volkswagen would take a chance on him?

Probably not, but the automobile industry seems to be run more rationally than the baseball world, which remains interested in Billy Martin even though the fiery manager has been canned by Minnesota, Detroit, Texas and the New York Yankees after conflicts with management.

"Owners and general managers always think they can reclaim lost souls," said Peter Bavasi, president of the Toronto Blue Jays. "That in itself is a commentary on baseball. Sometimes, because of our perceptions of the public and the media, we make decisions that are emotional and contrary to good business practices."

Bavasi was one of several baseball executives who said Tuesday that Martin's stormy past would not prevent him from having a stormy future. All the executives interviewed professed confidence in their current managers. Most of them also said they would consider one day handing Martin a lineup card to fill out.

Even Martin's knock of Yankee owner George Steinbrenner — he called him a "convicted" liar — wouldn't keep Martin from future managerial consideration.

"That wouldn't scare me off," said Bavasi, speaking by phone from Toronto. "My philosophy is to hire a good manager, give him good resources and coaches and leave him on his own to succeed or fail. I have yet to see Billy work in an organization where the free reign that he needs was given gladly.

"I don't think I'd hesitate considering Billy if we had veteran players who knew how to perform. He's the kind of manager who could bring a veteran team together. He's proven that."

Bill Veeck, principal owner of the Chicago White Sox, also thinks Martin is a top talent in search of the right situation.

"Four repetitions (firings) for much the same thing don't come out of the blue," Veeck said by phone from Chicago. "But at all those places, he came across a couple of fellows who had strong personalities themselves. That set the stage for collisions."

"If he were managing for me, I don't think it would result in head-strong confrontations."

Bavasi said Martin's in-temperate remark against Steinbrenner was the result of their long-standing bad relationship. "If you have the proper management relationship," he said, "then there's no cause for employees to take pot shots."

But Bavasi agrees that a remark like Martin's blast at Steinbrenner called for extreme measures. "It had to be done, although I think the outburst came more from stress and emotion than intellect. In more pleasant surroundings I don't think it would happen. If I had an opening, I wouldn't hold that remark against him."

It seems becoming a manager is the hard part, but once a man gets into the family, he has job security. If it isn't with one team, it will be with another ... and another. Baseball is indeed a funny game.

Brad Corbett, owner of the Texas Rangers, fired Martin in 1975 after several disputes over player transactions. Now, he says, he would hire him back — as an advisor.

"Billy and I have had our differences," Corbett said. "But we've squared them away and we're good friends now."

"I'd be interested in Martin but not as a manager. The timing's not right at the moment. I'm perfectly satisfied with our manager (Billy Hunter)."

Last year, Gabe Paul was president of the Yankees and his chief job was keeping Martin and Steinbrenner away from each other's throats. Now Paul is president of the Indians and, he says, he could one day work again with Martin.

"Sure I would," Paul said by phone from Cleveland. "I think Billy would cooperate with me. Billy and I got along very well. I think that he's learned a lot and I would not be afraid to hire him."

Neither would Buzzie Bavasi, Peter's father and the executive vice president of the California Angels.

"If the time came when Jim Fregosi wasn't my manager, Billy would be given every chance to win the job," Buzzie said by phone from Anaheim. "From a professional standpoint, he's a heckuva good baseball man."

The big thing in Martin's favor is that he's won with all four of his teams. Martin wasn't fired after the Yankees won the World Series in 1977; he was fired when the Yankees were some 10 games behind Boston.

"I don't think he'll be unemployed long," said Veeck. "I know him pretty well. I don't think there's any manager better than he is. Just look at his track record. While he's gotten fired, he's always won."

Charlie Finley, owner of the Oakland A's is also a winner, taking three world championships from 1972-74. But he intimates that Martin wouldn't fit into the Finley system of decision-making from the very top.

"Managers don't work for me; they work with me," he said. "To be my manager, you have to do the job quickly, correctly and conscientiously or you had better be prepared to take a hike."

"When I was at U.S. Steel I learned a very important lesson," said Finley, speaking from Birmingham, Ala., where he was overseeing the construction of the first Charlie O's Bar B Q restaurant. "If you can't take orders, then you can't give orders."

Northern Dancer's Colt Brings $1,300,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — All records except the individual price were broken during the two-day Keeneland Select Summer Yearling Sales, the final session of which did not end until 1 a.m. today.

A total of 350 yearlings grossed $42,579,000 to average $121,654. Last summer at the same auction, 324 head brought $27,651,000, an average of $85,343.

The second most expensive thoroughbred horse ever sold at public auction passed through the sales ring early in the final session of the auction Tuesday night.

Josh Collins of the London branch of the British Bloodstock Agency spent $1,300,000 for a colt by the Canadian champion and leading sire Northern Dancer. He was believed bidding for English racing stable owner Robert Sangster.

The colt, sold by the Hancock families' Claiborne Farm, Paris, Ky., was produced by a full sister to the Anglo-Irish two-year-old champion Thatch.

The only other thoroughbred to bring more money at public auction is Canadian Bound, a yearling purchased last summer at Keeneland for $1,500,000.

Earlier in the Tuesday night session, a new Keeneland record price for a yearling filly had been achieved. A daughter of the European champion and leading sire Vaguely Noble brought $500,000 to eclipse the previous filly mark of $405,000, paid in 1968 for Reine Enchanteur.

Henry de Kwiatkowski, a Swiss businessman now living in the United States, bought the yearling, a half-sister to the champion French filly Allez France, from the consignment of Crescent Farm and Gainesway Farm, Lexington.

A colt by Vaguely Noble, twice the leading sire in England and former European Horse of the Year, earlier Tuesday brought $380,000 by agents of the British Bloodstock Agency.

Nelson Bunker Hunt's Bluegrass Farm, Lexington, sold 21 yearlings during the final session for a total of $5,281,000. That surpassed the consignor's own record, set last year, of a gross $3,295,000.

Among the Bluegrass offerings were a $955,000 colt, and two more for $750,000 apiece. All went to British buyers.

Heron Bloodstock Agency of London paid $950,000 for a son of Northern Dancer out of the English Oaks winner Homeward Bound II.

Both $750,000 colts were by Vaguely Noble and were purchased by the Irish branch of the British Bloodstock Agency. One is a full brother to the Washington, D.C. International winner Nobiliary; the other is a full brother to the French two-year-old — champion Mississippian.

"At the Tuesday night session, 95 yearlings brought $18,660,000, an average of $195,957. It was the greatest single session of a yearling sale ever held."

Last summer at the closing session, 87 head realized $8,905,000 for an average of $102,356.

Giving In to Boy Didn't Hold Him

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl who has been in love with a guy I'll call Donny since last summer. He broke up with me because he said I wouldn't let him go out with the boys as often as he wanted to.

I gave in to him a lot, but I was one of the lucky ones who didn't get pregnant. Donny would come and get me, and after he got what he wanted, he'd bring me home and take off to be with his friends. Abby, I never said no to him because I loved him a lot and still do, but he always was in a hurry to get away from me.

He treats me just great when we're together, but when I'm up to his house with his sister, he ignores me. I want to know what Donny really thinks of me, but he won't commit himself. I have told him I loved him several times, but he's never told me that. How can I get Donny back, Abby? NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I don't think you can get Donny "back" because you never really had him—for any longer than it took him to "get what he wanted" before taking off. He used you, dear. Now, be a wise girl and make up your mind to forget him. And never let another boy use you again—or you can expect one rejection after another.

DEAR ABBY: Recently our daughter was married to a young Californian. His parents came for the wedding and stayed at our home.

As is the custom, the groom's father hosted a dinner party the evening before the wedding. But being unfamiliar with Milwaukee restaurants, he asked us to make the dinner reservations for him, so we selected a famous German restaurant. When the check was presented to the host, we were embarrassed to find that the waitress had added a $25 "tip" for herself. When we questioned the practice, she said it was customary for parties of more than 10 people.

It was a very awkward situation for all of us, and we felt especially embarrassed because we had made the reservation.

Have you (or anyone else) ever heard of such a custom? BRIDE'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Some clubs, hotels and restaurants routinely add "gratuities" to the bill for special services (group dinners, etc.). But when a waitress specified her tip on her own, I would ask for the management's confirmation—and schnell!

DEAR ABBY: I am married and the mother of six. My problem is dogs—seven of them! I like dogs, but not enough to let seven of them live in the same house with me. I can't get my husband to put them outside.

I can't keep my floors clean, and company will not come to my house because the dog odors are so strong.

Abby, those dogs even get up on my beds. I am just about nuts from those dogs, but my husband won't cooperate.

What should I do?

DOG PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: You have a HUSBAND problem—not a DOG problem. Even a dirty dog deserves a decent place to live, whether it's inside or out, but seven dogs sounds like six too many to me. Set up a howl!

CONFIDENTIAL TO L. S. IN BRENTWOOD. I don't know whether they don't want to quit smoking or can't, but three people whose smoking bothers me the most are Johnny Carson, Jerry Lewis and Sammy Davis Jr. Why? Because they are among the most talented entertainers of our time. I would like to see them around for a long, long time—and smoking reduces their chances.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters For All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

The News In Brief

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The decision whether to force a reluctant man to donate bone marrow needed by his dying cousin whose diseased marrow will not produce blood cells rests with an Allegheny County judge.

Robert McFall, 39, a former asbestos worker who suffers from aplastic anemia, sued Monday to compel his cousin, David Shimp, 43, a crane operator, to donate marrow if further tests reaffirm the two men are biologically compatible.

WASHINGTON — The House Ways and Means Committee appears bogged down on the capital gains tax issue, following a surprise proposal from a conservative member.

The capital gains dispute has delayed President Carter's $15 billion tax cut proposal for three months.

The committee voted 21-16 on Tuesday in support of Texas Republican Rep. Bill Archer's unexpected amendment that is designed to take inflation into account when taxing gains resulting from sale of certain assets — but only after 1980.

WASHINGTON (AP) — After months of debate on the issue, Congress apparently plans no action this year against cars that use too much fuel.

President Carter's proposal for a tax on fuel-inefficient vehicles, passed in watered-down form by the House, is stalled in a House-Senate conference committee that has only met once this year.

INTERNATIONAL
OLDHAM, England (AP) — Doctors say the 5-pound, 12-ounce British girl believed to be the world's first test-tube baby is "quite normal" and that mother and daughter are in excellent condition.

The baby, nine days premature, was delivered by caesarean section to 30-year-old Lesley Brown at 11:47 p.m. Tuesday in Oldham's red-brick general hospital.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — At 86, President Josip Broz Tito carries a cane, but the World War II guerrilla chieftain is still the strongman of the non-aligned movement he helped found.

When the man in the vanillawhite suit opened the meeting of more than 80 non-aligned nations in Belgrade, he read vigorously through his 3,000-word speech of welcome, exhibiting no signs of strain.

ICC Is Looking Into Charges Against L&N

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission is looking into charges that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad is illegally providing free services to two United States Steel coal facilities in eastern Kentucky.

J.P. Proffitt Jr., regional counsel for the ICC's Atlanta office, said Tuesday he has assigned an agent to the case and expects a report soon. The agency will decide whether to take action, including possible fines and injunctions, after reviewing the investigation, Proffitt added.

Two other ICC regional bureaus already have investigated the matter and have referred it to Proffitt for possible legal action.

The allegations relate to L&N's service at U.S. Steel's Lynch mine in Harlan County and the company's coal-washing facility 93 miles away at Corbin.

According to a memo written in February by J.W. King, an ICC Bureau of Traffic investigator, "it is apparent that the L&N is involved in several unlawful practices with regard to their handling of unit trains of coal for the account of United States Steel."

The memo was obtained from Fred Karem, a Lexington attorney who represents two groups of southeastern Kentucky coal operators who have been pressuring the ICC to force better coal shipping service from the L&N.

World's First 'Test Tube Baby,' Mother In Excellent Condition

OLDHAM, England (AP) — Doctors say the 5-pound, 12-ounce British girl believed to be the world's first test-tube baby is "quite normal" and that mother and daughter are in excellent condition.

The baby, nine days premature, was delivered by caesarean section to 30-year-old Lesley Brown at 11:47 p.m. Tuesday in Oldham's red-brick general hospital.

The father, 38-year-old truck driver Gilbert John Brown, chain-smoked in a waiting room outside the fourth-floor operating room. Hospital officials said he was close to tears when told he had a daughter.

Because a blockage in Mrs. Brown's fallopian tubes prevented normal conception, the baby was conceived by removing an egg from one of her ovaries and fertilizing it in a laboratory with her husband's sperm. After five days of nourishment in the test tube, it was planted in Mrs. Brown's uterus to develop normally.

The birth was the culmination of 12 years of experimentation and research by Dr. Patrick Steptoe, one of Britain's leading gynecologists, and Dr. Robert Edwards, a Cambridge University physiologist. A hospital spokesman said Mrs. Brown wants to name the baby Patricia, after Steptoe.

The British government's Medical Research Council said as far as it knows, the Brown baby is the first born after conception outside the mother's body. A spokesman said there has never been any substantive proof of reports that three test-tube babies are alive, two in Britain and one in Italy. And the medical profession put no credence in the claim of an Italian doctor in 1961 that he developed 27 test-tube children.

The Daily Mail, which paid $600,000 for exclusive rights to the Browns' story, reported the father gasped when he was given a brief glimpse of his child and said:

"It's incredible, incredible... I'm not a religious man, but I thank God that I heard our little girl cry for the first time. No one can realize what this means to Lesley and myself."

Brown has a 17-year-old daughter by a previous marriage.

A hospital spokesman said the mother was "over the moon with joy." He said she and the baby would probably be able to go home to Bristol in about 10 days.

The doctors knew the baby's sex in advance from chromosomal tests, but Mrs. Brown told them not to tell her because "I don't want to be cheated of the final thrill."

The only problem that apparently arose in the latter stage of Mrs. Brown's pregnancy was a minor blood poisoning known as toxemia, but doctors said it was quickly brought under control.

The birth brought hope to thousands of women unable to have children because of irreparable defects in their physical makeup. But it was expected to rekindle a fierce philosophical and ethical debate on the morality of conception outside the mother's body.

When Steptoe and Edwards first successfully fertilized a human egg and produced a fetus in 1969, the Roman Catholic Church condemned it as an extension of "immoral" artificial insemination.

Ethics Of Research Questioned

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The British success in delivering a "test-tube baby" leaves a federal advisory board skeptical about the ethics of such experiments and uncertain whether the government should underwrite them.

Such research has been curtailed in the United States since 1975 when the Department of Health Education and Welfare barred any federal funding unless the projects are approved by the federal Ethics Advisory Board.

The board has met only twice, the first time last February. Several board members interviewed Tuesday night said the panel expects to consider the first money requests for test-tube baby research in September.

"I think we're going to be very cautious about this in this country. I think we're going to go very slowly," said David Hamburg, board vice chairman. A psychiatrist, Hamburg is president of the Institute of Medicine, part of the National Academy of Sciences.

Board member Sissela Bok said she doubts that the successful birth in England on Tuesday of what is believed to be the first test-tube baby would make it easier for American researchers to get federal money.

"I don't think that because it happens in England it can automatically happen in the United States," she said.

The ethics board was established in 1975, but its members were not named until last fall when HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. selected 12 persons from various fields including medicine, law and education. Two others are still to be named.

Doctors in Oldham, England described the 5-pound, 12-ounce girl as in "excellent condition" and said her "condition at birth was normal" after being delivered by Caesarean section. English doctors removed an unfertilized egg from the mother, Lesley Brown, and fertilized it with her husband's sperm in a laboratory test-tube and then implanted the fertile egg in her uterus.

Plans Made To Reorganize State Guard

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Billy Wellman, state adjutant general, was expected today to announce reorganization plans for the Kentucky National Guard that reportedly include the reassignment of at least three units.

Wellman was scheduled to meet with Gov. Julian Carroll before announcing the plan. But he told a Lexington television station Tuesday that the National Guard will not remain active in areas where it is not supported.

"We simply won't stay in communities that won't support their units," Wellman said in an interview with WTUV-TV. "There are too many communities that want units and don't have them."

Wellman declined to name the units he wanted reassigned, but he said the guard's most serious problems were in Louisville. The changes, if approved by Carroll, would be effective Sept. 1, Wellman said.

The Kentucky guard's present strength of about 5,500 troops is 1,000 below what it should be, Wellman said, despite the fact Kentucky led the nation, percentage-wise, in enlistments last month.

He said his goal was to bring the guard up to strength before the end of the year, adding he would shift responsibility for meeting recruitment quotas to individual unit commanders.

Reeves Named

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll has named H. Clyde Reeves of Frankfort to the Kentucky Council of Economic Advisors.

Reeves, executive director of the Municipal Statutes Revision Commission, replaces the late William Herzel.

Carroll also on Tuesday reappointed Joseph E. Hurn of Lexington to the state Board of Proprietary Education for a four-year term.

COSTUMING THE CHARACTERS — Before each performance of "The Thread That Runs So True" Patsy Massey, wardrobe mistress, left, must be sure each actor has the costumes needed for the part. Here she helps Aunt Effie, played by Mary Outland, to select a hat. The play finishes its summer run with performances on July 27, 28, and 29 at 8 p.m. in the city-county park.

Huddleston Predicts Continued Attacks On Tobacco Industry

By DIANA TAYLOR

Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Although the anti-smoking actions of Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano are "reasonably under control," attacks on the tobacco industry will continue, says Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston.

The Kentucky Democrat made his comments at a Tuesday meeting with the board of directors of the Kentucky Farm Bureau — a group which has been vocal in its opposition to Califano's anti-smoking campaign.

"I wouldn't be candid with you today if I would suggest anything other than that the attacks are increasing. And I think we can expect that they will increase in the future," Huddleston said.

"They're coming from a number of different directions. We've been able so far to protect the (tobacco) program. I think we have Mr. Califano under reasonably good control."

"After a lot of sound and fury, what his program is really boiling down to is a lot of voluntary programs he hopes will be initiated by various other agencies and institutions."

Huddleston's meeting with the Farm Bureau directors was the second "Measure the Candidates" session of the week. On Monday, state Rep. Louie Guenther of Louisville, the Republican senatorial candidate, met with the board.

Guenther criticized Huddleston's vote to confirm Califano as HEW secretary, saying the secretary's "anti-tobacco bias" was known at the time.

Huddleston answered the charge Tuesday, saying, "All of the tobacco state senators voted for confirmation...and the Tobacco Institute (an industry organization in Washington) raised no questions."

"There was not any indication prior to his confirmation that he had anything against tobacco" or would launch a program that would be detrimental to the crop, Huddleston said.

The "Measure the Candidates" seminars were designed to give candidates the Farm Bureau's positions on a variety of matters. The organization will not endorse a candidate, said president J. Robert Wade.

The Farm Bureau directors were critical of President Carter's decision in June to raise beef import quotas, a move which Kentucky agriculture officials say will have a damaging effect on every beef producer in the state.

Huddleston said he "disagreed strongly with the president's policy on beef imports and advised him of it."

Huddleston is working with other members of the Senate Agriculture Committee drafting further suggestions to Carter based on occurrences since the quota increase took effect, showing the president that "it wasn't necessary for him to take the move that he did," Huddleston said.

Conceding that passage of a national energy policy — expected in Congress "within a few short days" — may be difficult because of differing views on natural gas deregulation, Huddleston said he hoped the Senate could avoid a long debate on the matter.

"...I think what we need more than anything right now is a game plan on energy, a policy for this country. It's not going to be one that everybody likes — probably not one that anyone likes — but we have to know what the rules are."

Guenther also had criticized Huddleston Monday for what he termed a lack of leadership in drawing up a national energy policy.

Proposal May Bog Down Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jarred by a surprise proposal from one of its most conservative members, the House Ways and Means Committee seems bogged down again on the issue of capital gains — a topic that has delayed President Carter's $15 billion tax cut package for three months.

The committee voted 21-16 on Tuesday in support of Texas Republican Rep. Bill Archer's unexpected amendment that is designed to take inflation into account when taxing the gains resulting from sale of certain assets — but only after 1980.

Unlike a capital gains provision that has been sailing through the committee, the Archer proposal does nothing to relieve taxpayers with capital gains already accumulated.

The surprised proponents of a measure that would set a maximum 35 percent tax on capital gains, past as well as future, had claimed support of a solid majority of the committee. This provision, drafted by Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., is backed by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., committee chairman, and Rep. Barber B. Conable of New York, the senior Republican.

Observations

By Lochie Hart

Brother Havens Recalls History

A letter of regret from the Rev. A. V. Havens, former pastor of the First Christian Church, was received by Mrs. A. B. Austin, invitation chairman of the Homecoming event last week. July 15-16 marked the 120th anniversary for the church. In response to Mrs. Austin's invitations, approximately 200 former members came.

The letter containing his memories of Murray in 1936 might interest our readers who lived here in that period and those who didn't know our town in those days.

The Letter Follows:

My dear Lucille:

What a disappointment it is for me to be unable to accept your kind invitation to the 120th anniversary of the First Christian Church of Murray, Ky. Your invitation has brought forth a flood of memories from four decades ago up through the thick layers of more recent events.

It was forty-two years ago that my family and I arrived in Murray. I was thirty years old and had just received my masters degree in psychology at the University of Kentucky, for which I had written, "Psychotherapeutic Procedures and Their Results," as my thesis. That was somewhat different from the, "faith, repentance and baptism," to which the church was accustomed.

When we arrived in Murray, Main Street, Fourth Street and the town square were the only paved streets and they were always quite muddy from the traffic from the side streets.

Remember Mule Sales, Unpaved Streets

Court Day and the Mule Sales were big events in the life of Murray business and so was every Saturday. I remember how people would park their cars, on Saturday afternoons, on the east side of the square, facing the stores, walk home for dinner and then walk back to sit in their cars and watch the Saturday night crowds go by on the sidewalk.

I used to go jug fishing for channel cat in the river where the lake is now. It was said there used to be some expert distillers between the river and Murray, but I never had any personal knowledge of that.

The four years that you put up with me as your minister were most eventful years. The Rotary Club elected me its president. I also became president of the Community Concert Association and of the Murray Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Baby Born In

Keys-Houston Clinic

Martha, Frances, who passed away seven years ago, became a chairman in the Murray Women's Club. Our younger daughter, Martha, was born the day before Easter, 1939 in the Keys-Houston Clinic, across the street from the church. I remember running over to visit Martha Frances for a few minutes, just before conducting the big Easter service.

Easter Service Crowds

A Thrill

The crowds at the Sunday morning services were always a thrill to me. Every Sunday, there was an overflow crowd so in the adjacent Sunday School auditorium. It was most gratifying to see a large number of students from the college, every Sunday morning.

First Pilcher

Pipe Organ

I remember that I personally canvassed the membership to raise extra donations to buy the church's first organ, a Pilcher pipe organ, and to pay for the first choir director, a Prof. Doyle I believe, who was the head of the music department at the college.

I notice that John Mack Carter is to be one of your speakers. I remember him and his little sister when I used to call on Zelma and Martha. I often wondered how he made it from Murray to Good Housekeeping. That must have been a most courageous journey.

On this anniversary occasion, my best wishes go to each member of the church. As the wave is composed of the ocean, so each one of you is composed of God. As the wave has the wetness and the saltiness of the ocean, so each one of you has the holiness and the divinity of God. As the power of the ocean is in the wave, so the power of God is in each one of you. May you know how to use it and persistently use it to fill your lives with all the good things God has prepared for you.

I have just finished writing a book along this line. When I am successful in getting it published, I will be most happy to send the church a copy.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. O'Kell will be my personal representatives in the celebration of your anniversary. I will eagerly await their return to hear all about it.

Most sincerely yours,

A.V. Havens

Note: The O'Kells left for their California home Tuesday.

Mr. Havens would not recognize the location of the old Houston clinic - later the Houston-McDevitt Clinic. A fire destroyed the remodeled building - a new building is planned to house the clinic pharmacy and office spaces.

Local people park their cars on Court Square, facing the business houses, on Saturday afternoon, and return that night to watch the Saturday night shoppers. A parking space was difficult to get.

Mule Day in Murray Way Back When - Trade Day on Fourth Mondays in Murray at Walnut and North Third Streets. Fourth Monday in March was the Big Day of the year. The crowds of traders overran the space at the regular space, and filled Court Square.

Federal GSA Is Riddled With Fraud, Crime, Bribery, Investigations Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration is in trouble, with allegations of crime, bribery and fraud riddling the operations of the federal government's main landlord and central supply store.

Investigators have turned up evidence of thefts, fraud, kickbacks, extortion and waste across the country that amounts to more than $100 million a year in the agency that has a $5 billion budget.

Hundreds of GSA workers are targets of investigations by at least two grand juries, the FBI, a congressional panel and an internal task force.

And spot checks by GSA auditors in recent months have shown that despite the investigations many of the abuses are continuing, investigators confirmed Monday night.

The investigations have been going on for months, but the full scope of the troubles is becoming clear only now. Examples abound.

A contractor said one contract was for painting 40 miles of pipe in a Washington Veterans Administration building in which the pipes were behind plaster walls, and, as far as he knows, were not painted. The only way to get such lucrative — and fraudulent — contracts was to wine, dine and bribe middle-level federal employees, he said.

Regional federal officials in Seattle approved spending $2.5 million for the design of a new office building in Anchorage, Alaska, even though they knew the design would be useless.

A regional federal office in Boston was redone in teak, brass and expensive glass with the taxpayers facing a bill for $42,640 for what the auditors called an "extravagant interior."

Witnesses told a congressional committee that 500 employees of GSA and other federal agencies were involved in the illegal activities.

Others familiar with the situation say the losses could run to $500 million a year with more than 1,000 federal employees involved.

Efforts are under way to clean up the mess.

Federal indictments are expected soon in Baltimore and Washington, sources say. Investigations are going on in at least 12 cities, including Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Denver, New York and Fort Worth, Texas.

Jay Solomon, named to head the GSA by President Carter 15 months ago, brought in former federal prosecutor Vincent Alto to push internal efforts to root out corruption.

A Senate government affairs subcommittee headed by Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., has held a series of hearings on the GSA. Chiles now wants money for more auditors to join the agency's 90 experts.

The litany of problems is long: —bribery, false specifications on contracts, misuse of the 80,000 government gasoline credit cards, rip-offs of tires and televisions, overcharging on computer services.

The GSA auditors in their most recent spot checks showed that despite the investigations, the GSA on numerous occasions continues to pay for work never done, investigators said.

The auditors, for example, found that in Houston the GSA paid for coats of paint that were never applied; in Philadelphia the agency paid for door handles that were never installed; in Seattle it contracted for cleaning one-third more carpeting than existed; and in Richmond, Va., paid for carpeting never laid.

Alto said Monday night that he was not surprised by the latest audit checks and added, "It strengthened my belief that this (abuse) is occurring elsewhere" beside the Washington area.

The problems do not stop with those under grand jury scrutiny, either, sources say. They say Alto's investigators are looking into the possibility of bribes that could involve high-level employees of GSA and elsewhere and mean millions in profits to businesses.

The problems developed over many years, said Solomon, a real estate and shopping center developer prior to 1977. "In the past, rules and regulations were allowed to go unheeded," he said in an interview.

Alto added: "There is hardly any discipline at all in the agency. People know they can get away with it ... And that's been the attitude for 25 years. It's not organized crime. Individuals were allowed to do it by the system. This is going to change."

"GSA needs a wholesale reshuffling and a whole lot of people sent away," Solomon said. "It's got to be reorganized or the president ought to break up the agency and scatter the parts."

Chiles' subcommittee heard about many of the problems in hearings last month, with some of the most interesting testimony coming from Robert Lowry, a painting contractor in the Washington area.

Lowry, testifying under a grant of immunity, said he was involved in payoffs of various kinds to GSA building managers.

"The contractors make a practice of paying off GSA building managers by taking them to lavish lunches, sponsoring parties, paying cash, picking up bills for their vacations, and in many cases, providing them with prostitutes," he said.

Lowry also told the story of the pipes: "There are 40 miles of pipe in the VA building. In order to find it, you have to take plaster walls down, so I don't know how it ever got painted."

Lowry said that after ending his involvement in the corruption in 1971, he tried to interest congressional and GSA officials in the problem but failed.

Carroll Nixes Session For Compensation

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP) — A special session of the Kentucky Legislature to rewrite the state's workmen's compensation laws is not needed, according to Gov. Julian Carroll.

In remarks Tuesday at the dedication of an agricultural community center here, the governor said he does not consider the issue pressing enough to warrant a special legislative session. Under state law, the governor may call the Legislature into special session to deal with specific subjects.

On Monday at the urging of state Rep. Buddy Adams, D-Bowling Green, the Barren River Area Development District became the second regional governmental group to pass a resolution asking the governor to call a special session on workmen's compensation.

Adams told the group that Kentucky has some of the highest workmen's compensation rates in the country and ranks among the lowest in benefit payments.

Carroll said Tuesday that a citizens' committee is gathering information on workmen's compensation to be used by the 1980 General Assembly.

Adams said administration sources have told him that an independent consulting firm will be hired to study the workmen's compensation system.

Franklin Curfew

Set At 10 p.m.

For 18-And-Under

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Franklin Fiscal Court has approved a county curfew ordinance under which all persons below the age of 18 must be at home after 10 p.m. unless accompanied by an adult.

The ordinance, to take effect Aug. 31, is similar to one which has been in effect in the city of Frankfort.

The push for the county ordinance was prompted by a recent rash of vandalism in the suburbs.

Authorities favoring the county curfew said it would enable them to arrest juveniles prowling the area after 10 p.m. who they suspect — but cannot prove — are engaged in acts of vandalism.
